The treasury department, taking 107.47 pounds of raw sugar testing 96 degrees as required to make 100 pounds of hard refined, made public a statement estimating the sugar differential, as follows: Act of 1894, 19.82 cents; house schedule, 12.33 cents; senate schedule, 19.83 cents; conference schedule, 13.92 cents per 100 pounds.

The reciprocity provision as agreed to by the conference contains some of the features of both the senate and the house bills on this subject. What may be termed the retaliatory clause of the provision is that which empowers the president to suspend by proclamation the provisions of this act providing for the free introduction of coffee, tea, Tonquin or tonka beans and vanilla beans coming from any country which imposes duties upon products of the United States he may deem to be reciprocally unequal and unreasonable. The President is required to act within two years in securing these reciprocal trade treaties, and they are to be submitted to the senate for its ratification. Articles are to be reduced to the extent of 20 per cent in these treaties. and the President is specifically authorized to enter into negotiations which will place certain articles upon the free list for a specified period of five years. The President is empowered to revoke the concession when satisfied that the agreement is not adhered to in good faith by any other country with which an agreement shall have been made.

Long Senate Discussion.

. Washington, July 20 .- Monday in the senate was principally devoted to a discussion of Mr. Harris' resolution relating to the Union Pacific railroad. Mr. Morgan of Alabama concluded his remarks in favor of the resolution and Mr. Stewart spoke in opposition to it. Mr. Thurston of Nebraska was speaking in opposition when, at 5 o'clock p. m., the senate went into executive sescion, and shortly thereafter adjourned.

PATRIARCHS No Present Prospect of a Union with the Odd Fellows

The delegation of the Patriarchal circle from this city to the meeting of the supreme body. at Janesville, has returned, says the Evening Wisconsin. Supreme Commander F. C. Voltz stated that there was nothing whatever in the reports that the circle would disband as a separate organization and return as part and parcel of Odd Feilowship, further than the fact that at the last meeting of the grand encampment of the I. O. O. F., a resolution Haying Is About Finished, and Day Hands was adopted instructing the grand commander of that body to confer with the high officials of the Patriarchal circle in an effort to bring about a union.

"The grand commander of the encampment was at Janesville to meet us, and was well received and courteously treated, but there was nothing done upon the proposition," said Supreme Commander Voltz. "While something may be accomplished in the future, there is no indication of a union at this time, and if any were made possible it would only be with the distinct understanding that the regular ritual of the Patriarchal circle would be used in the new organization formed by such union. The circle never was in such good condition, and never batter off financially, than at the present time."

ELASTIC STARCH has been before the people of the United States for twenty inree years and is without doubt the greatest starch invention of the Nineteenth Century. Last year its sales reached the unpreceden ed number of twenty million packages. It is prepared upon scientific principles by men who have had years of practical experience in tancy laundrying. It makes ironing easy, restores old summer dresses to their natural whiteness, and imparts to linen a beautiful and lasting finish. It is the only starch manufactured that is perfectly harmless, containing neither arsenic, alum, or any other substance injurious to linen, and can be used even as a baby powder.

THE NEW TARIFF BILL.

The new tariff bill passed the house after only one day's debate. Is will meet with the same favor in the country at large that it has in congress. Its consideration led to the unusual spectacle of a tariff debate in which republicans took no part, democrats carrying both sides of the argum nt. A most interesting passage was that between Mr. McMillin and Mr. Bailey, the two rival democratic leaders. They took issue on the orthodoxy | the town, where they jumped into a of the free raw material doctrine, the former opposing it and the latter championing it.

Every republican present voted for the report. Twelve populists and all the democrats with five exceptions voted against it.

The conference report cares for northwestern interests in gratifying fashiou It protects lumber, and favors barley and other important lines of farm products.

The bill in its present form will in sure a revenue of $225,000,000 a year, Hubbard of New York is the most chair: "Mr. President, the clock is out 100 Gallons In Four Weeks. $75,000,000 more than the present prominently mentioned man as the law. Richard Croker, who probably stole more than any New Yorker since Tweed, has come back to lead Tammany to victory in the New York municipal campaign. Blood Poison and Insanity. While the fullest credit should be given to the staff of this important institution (the State Institute of Pathology), it is but fair to state that the study of toxaemia in connection with insanity is by no means a novelty, nor is it the discovery of the enterprising young gentlemen (connected with that establishment) who have been credited therewith. Over a decade ago Salomon, Regis and others recognized the toxic origin of mental disease, while no less than ten others, among them Herter and Smith, have written extensively on the subject. Perhaps most credit should be given to Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton, whose paper on "Autotoxis as a Cause of Insanity" was read before the Medical Society of London in May last, and noticed in your London letter ! a short time subsequently. In this paper, which contained much original research, the connection between toxaemia and insanity was fully shown .-New York Medical Record.

Sudden Restoration of Speech.

A child who had for some years been speechless from what appeared to be paralysis of the vocal chords had been under treatment at an institution for deaf mutes in the hope that something might be done to restore her lost faculty. The physicians had failed to produce any effect, and the little one was to be sent home as incurable. The children who were recovering their powers of speech were singing a favorite and inspiring hymn, when the child, without the slightest warning, joined in the chorus and sang heartily and with tolerable enunciation. Later she pronounced several words and spoke with tolerable ease. The doctors are somewhat puzzled and can give no satisfactory explanation of the curious circumstance.

Suit To Recover Wages. There has been a hot time in Justice Richardson's court during the past two days, as the result of a dispute over sixteen dollars. Charles Schrisp. sie, a farm hand, is suing for back pay that he says is due him from J. B. Munroe, of the town of Bradford. In April last an employment agency at Chicago sent Mr. Schrispsie to work on Mr. Munroe's farm, and, as the story goes, he was to work for six months for $96. After working one month and two days he quit and demanded what pay was due Lim. As Munroe has refused to settle he has brought suit. Mr. Schrispsie is a pole and cannot talk English and an interpreter had to be secured. Justice Richardson has the case under advisement. Smith & Pierce appeared for the plaintiff and J. J. They Have Not Seen Him Since Monday Morning and His Experience With a Hired Man Leads Them To Fear Further Trouble-Inquiries By Telephone.

Somebody hacked S. Lally's buggy with a jack-knife-cut dashboard, top and burness to tatters. Now the question arises did Mr. Lally meet with the same harsh treatment? He drove from Oregon, Dane county, Monday morning to have his buggy fixed and his family and friends have not seen him since.

They have kept the wires from Oregon very warm today trying to get news from him and the Wisconsin Carriage Top company have been making inquiries all around town.

Spite was supposed to have caused the mutilation of Farmer Lally's! buggy, the pride of his heart. The spite of a hired man discharged without notice was supposed to offer an explanation for the discomforting spectacle of a dashboard split into whip lashes.

The question that now concerns Oregon is whether this same ill feeling has led to still more serious MR. and Mrs. F. J. Bailey and Chan- trouble for Farmer Lally. The ship was rolling, and the old china in the pantry was promenading with cracked voice. I was restless and alert for every new sound that might intrude itself.

What was that?

I sprang from my bunk and listened. A low, rustling sound which I can only compare to the slow oozing out of some creature through a lush thicket growth. The sound formed again and faded, and again rustled forward.

To spring to the saloon was the first thought. But I could not move. I am a man every inch of me, but I could not budge. I believe I waited three good minutes.

Only the silence answered and the ing of the ship. I threw on my clothes and was in the saloon in a moment. Far along in the dim light the Lady Jemappes was standing at the door of her stateroom, dressed as we had left her af the late supper. Her glittering eyes held me through the was not around her waist.

The Christmas on the Mediterranean was a howling success. We sang "God Save the Queen," and I added from "The Star Spangled Banner" until I was hoarse. The captain decorated our plates with holly, from whose branches the old lady with the frisette plucked a piece "to adorn my hair" with a smile of the vintage of eighteen odd that almost upset the sobriety of everybody. The dance on deck went into the small hours. My Lady Jemappes had never looked so beautiful, I thought. She seemed to have forgotten her weird alarm of the dark night. She was all a witchery of blue gauzes and feamy laces. prophesied, the inevitable belt. It was not locked. Had she forgotten?

I withdrew into the shadow of the awning stretched above the deck and watched her. Caithness was claiming his waltzes, and she floated away on his arm. Her motions were graceful as a Greek. The belt slipped in long, supple symmetry, wreathing itself to her circling grace. Her brilliant gauzes seemed to breathe glances. Across the night and across its radiant dream on which the moonlight fulled her strange eyes reached. As the whorl of the dance brought her near me I again noticed those eyes. They were dilating in power in the deepening waltz-whorls of melody which the band tossed off. They were rhythmic to the circling beat of music. The light within them arose in coils of ascending brilliance. I held my breath as the belt slipped by me, a thin smear of silver moonlight.

When I held her at last, my prisoner of music, and moved away with her breath upon my lips and the fragrance of the pomegranate blossoms gathered at Gibraltar upon her breast, it was only the woman, das ewig weibliche, and the dream of the night was now herself alone, and the great white rose of more light along beaven starring all off. of moonlight along beaven, starring all off.

THE SHAKERS DO THEIR DUTY

"If a man discovers a valuable medicine," said Horace Greeley, "it is his duty to advertise it." Yes, and at once; for suffering demands the speediest relief possible. But let the man first be sure. Suffering had better wait than be deluded by false hopes. Medicine, like surgery, must often seem cruel in order to be really kind. On this principle the Shakers, of Mt. Lebanon, N. Y., withheld their great indigestion and dyspepsia cure from the public for several years. With them right-doing is everything-money comparatively nothing. Hence the popularity and success of whatever they offer for sale. Having satisfied themselves of the merit of their medicine by employing it in the worst cases of digestive disorders in the case of the merit of the worst cases of digestive disorders in the case of the merit of the worst cases of digestive disorders in the case of the merit of the worst cases of digestive disorders in the case of the revised statutes of Wisconsin, was filed on the 29th day of June, 1897.

"She had not looked at it for a few days, and she thought she would go in the garden to see how it was growing. When she looked at it, it had grown so tall that she could hardly believe her eyes. It bared a beautiful pink flower, and when she went to smell it she heard a faint cry, and she stood on her tiptoes and looked in, and she saw a dear little baby, not more than an inch long. She took the little dwarf in her hands and carried it into her fairy house and laid it in a bed of cotton. It was a most beautiful child, having dark blue eyes, golden curls on his head and pretty, rosy cheeks. "The little boy grew to be 7 years old, when he was chosen to be 'king of the fairies.' Everybody loved him, as he was such a loving child. He lived to an old age, and at his death there was great sorrow all over fairy town. "The end."-New York Times.

And if the germ didn't have the fever how could it give the fever? How could a thing give a thing it didn't have?" This was too much for the fairy doctor, who could only answer, "Nobody knows but God." Later the child breaks out into verse:

The flower that bends down to the earth Will soon go back to God, But never again will it return The same as it was plod.

In an apparently much needed footnote the author explains that "this poem, which came into my head quick and sudden, doesn't make sense because the word 'plod,' which rhymes so nicely with God, doesn't mean what I want

The Old Tin Sheep.

"Creak!" said the old tin sheep on wheels; "I'm growing old, and down my back I'm very sure there's a dreadful crack. There's nobody knows," said the old tin sheep, "till he's old how an old toy feels."

"I used to trundle about the floor; But that was when I was young and new; It's something that now I could not do. No; I shall quietly rest myself on this shelf

"Creak!" said the sheep; "what's gone amiss? Some one is taking me out, I know. They're pulling my string, and away I go. Stop, oh, stop!" cried the old tin sheep. "I never can go like this!"

But Tommy pulled the sheep around; About the nursery it went so fast The floor beneath seemed flying past, While creakety-creak, the wheels went round with a doleful sound. Then Tommy left it there on its side;

And the wax doll heard it faintly speak. "There's nobody knows what he can do," said the sheep, "till he has tried." -Katharine Pyle in St. Nicholas.

His Wife Never Told Him to Build the

Half a dozen or more department Fairy stories are not entirely out of with narrow ruffles of the silk, covering clerks, who for the sake of exclusiveness and other advantages reside in one of the beautiful suburbs adjacent to the most beautiful capital on the globe, were seated around the piazza of the home of one of them last Sunday in the pleasant sunshine, conversing, says the Washington Star.

After a discussion of the Greco-Turkish wrestling match, the house-senate wrestle with the tariff bill and a few other stirring questions of that kind they got down to plain, everyday domestic doings.

"By George," said one, "I've been married seven years and I think my wife is the finest woman on earth. Anyhow, she is for me."

"That's what I think of mine," said another, "but I wish incidentally to add that I have a mental reservation as to her dear mother."

Several of the men smiled, but no one ventured any further.

"Well, my wife is a daisy," added a third; "but I must say that when she loses her temper occasionally I wish she would lose it permanently and never find it again."

"Aw," said a fourth, "they can't help that you know. A woman has got to have some snap or she ain't worth shucks. Now, my wife-"

"So's mine," interrupted a sympathizer; and everybody understood and laughed.

"The only objection I have to my wife," proceeded a man who looked strong and healthy, "is that she will insist on my making the fire every moraing. I've tried to break her, but regularly every morning I'm awakened with the same old thing: 'John, John, get up and build the fire.'

Every man looked at every other man, as if these words were the exact echo of what was throbbing in his own bosom. At east every one except one.

"Mine never says that to me," he said, with more or less pride, while the others gazed at him as if to say: "Would that heaven had made us such a wife." "You know, or if you don't, I'll tell you now, that my wife is a Boston woman, and she always says: 'Henry, Henry, arise and erect a conflagration!"

However, this explanation did not prevent the resolution from passing unanimously.

World's Supply of Cotton.

According to the best sources of information, the world's supply of cotton in 1895 aggregated 18,200,000 bales, or 7,280,000,000 pounds. Of this immense the United States; 2,600,000 in India and 634,000 in Egypt. The remaining bales were produced in the various ment obtain, and in no two countries is the weight of a bale of cotton exactly the same. The American bale averages 450 pounds, the Indian bale 400 pounds,, and the Egyptian bale 717 ered from the fact that in the United States alone it covers over 20,000,000 acres. In 1830 the world's total output of cotton aggregated only 636,000,000 pounds or eleven times less than in the product almost doubled, amounting in 1840 to 1,192,000,000 pounds. Since then the world's product has been as follows: 2,391,000,000 pounds in 1860, 4,039,000,000 pounds in 1880, and 7,280,-000,000 in 1895. From these figures some idea of the vast importance of the cotton plant as a factor in the world's growth and progress may be obtained.

A Record Breaking . . . . .

All the season we have been telling you that Wash Goods were never cheaper, and it was a fact. for we made some very fortunate purchases, and were able to name some astonishingly low prices. Now prices have gone still lower, for mill agents and jobbers have been offering their remaining stock at half and third early season prices: As is usual when there is a good thing to be had, we got in on it; and today offer several remarkable Wash Goods. If you do not pay more than five cents a yard it will buy a dainty fabric which ordinarily retails at ten cents, and all other prices will obtain equally desirable values.

nor end of stock, but are fresh new goods in fuil pieces) all you want of them, per yard--3 cents.

SECOND--Dimities in stripes, figures, scroll patterns, &c; all the desirable colorings; fifty pieces to select from. All on the counters, per yard--5 cents.

THIRD--150 pieces of the season's choicest wash fabrics, that have been retailed at 12½ and 15c. Organdies and dimities, light and dark grounds; many that you have not seen before this season. They are all, per yard--71/2 cents.

Don't Forget the Shirt Waists....
